COMMUNIST "FEELER" TO NANKING: ACTION URGED

RACE PROSPECTS FOR THIS AFTERNOON

Bear Claw Favoured For Opening Event

(BY "LAST QUARTER")

With the publication of the draw for the two sections of the Wong Nei Chong Stakes and Sydney Maidens, I am now able to give more definite comments regarding the merits of the respective ponies which have been declared as intending starters for these two events.

THE WONG NEI CHONG STAKES

In the first section (Race No. 2), Flying Arrow (S. C. Liang) and Araxy (F. Marshall) appears to be the pick of the field. The other ponies conceded outside chances are Bouldnor (E. C. Leighton) and Prospero (V. V. Needa). For the second section (Race No. 6), I believe the issue should lie between Feudal Knight (D. S. Li), Tze Tin (H. C. Pih) and Aramis (L. G. Frost). Chiu Shan (V. V. Needa) and Clowner (E. C. Leighton) are the best outside bets of the remaining entries; the former being exceptionally fast off the barrier.

THE SYDNEY MAIDENS

Even with the division of this event into two sections, punters will have a troublesome time in picking out the winners and I believe we should witness two very close finishes. In the first section, which is the fourth race on the card, Strathcarrick (Black), Courting Eve (Needa), Home Brew (H. M. Pih) and Gypsy Love should fight it out between them.

All the sprinters seem to have been drawn together in the second section, Race No. 7, but provided Astec gets off well at the gate, I look to this flyer to pass the post first. Falling this, Lancashire Chips (H. C. Pih) should annex the honours as this chestnut has proven its capabilities in training over sprint distances. Katinka (Frost) is in excellent condition and should secure third place. Dick Turpin (E. C. Leighton) and Boronia Belle (Ralph) are the next best.

Since the publication of my last article yesterday, I have seen several of the ponies being put through their final gallops and also obtained confirmation from several of the stables as regards where their respective candidates are starting, hence my final selections are based on same.

PROPOSALS TO SUSPEND CIVIL WAR

CONCENTRATED RESISTANCE AGAINST JAPAN

SHANGHAI, FEBRUARY 19.
THE COMMUNISTS ARE READY TO GIVE UP THEIR SOCIALIST PLATFORM IF THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT DECLARES WAR AGAINST JAPAN AND EFFECTS POLITICAL REFORMS, ACCORDING TO A REPORT PUBLISHED LAST NIGHT BY THE "SHANGHAI EVENING POST AND MERCURY," LOCAL AMERICAN PAPER.

The five proposals of the Communists follow:—

- (1) That the freedom of speech and release of political prisoners be granted;
- (2) That civil war be suspended, so that all troops may be used to cope with foreign aggression;
- (3) That a national assembly comprising all political parties and factions be held to devise means to save the nation;
- (4) That a war of resistance against Japan be declared;
- (5) That the livelihood of the people be improved.

Should these terms be accepted, the Reds will forego further military activities against the Kuomintang forces, and will abolish the Soviet Socialist Republic in the North-West, which is to be renamed the Chinese Republican Government in the Special Area. In that event the Reds will obey all orders from the National Government and the Military Affairs Commission.—Union News.

H.K. Rifle Association

We have been informed that the first annual general meeting of the Hong Kong Rifle Association will be held, by permission of those concerned, in the Matched Building at Shamshui-po Camp on Tuesday next at 5.45 p.m. when the report and balance sheet will be submitted for adoption and members of the Council elected for 1937.

In this connection, it is interesting to note that the first annual report, which has already been circulated to members, gives a very comprehensive review of the past year's activities.

DAILY DOUBLE

Astec and Pagan Love.

It states that the inaugural meeting was held on June 5, 1935 when the present Hon. Secretary explained in detail his proposals for the formation of the Association, adding that the Military authorities were in favour of the move and that they had promised to lend it every support.

His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, kindly consented to become patron of the Association immediately after his arrival in the Colony and he has shown very keen interest in the Association.

FIRST PRESIDENT

The first president of the Association was Lt. Col. H. L. Murrow, D.S.O., who resigned in January 1936, owing to pressure of business and his place was taken by Major R. D. Walker, M.C.

WEEK-END SPORT

Racing Carnival Opens At Happy Valley

What with the opening of the Annual Race Meeting, a full programme of cricket, football and hockey matches, the Colony's sporting community will be well-catered for this afternoon, and as indications are that we will be favoured by glorious weather, the Racing Carnival is promised an excellent send-off.

The different forms of sport are dealt with, in detail, by the different scribes whose views are given below. For the next few days, all roads will lead to the Valley and on Monday racegoers are promised a rare thrill when what has been described as "the best lot of Derby candidates" will fight for the Blue Riband of the local Turf.

After a week of interport contests, football and hockey will return to "normal" but to-morrow the International Competition will be the main attraction insofar as soccer enthusiasts are concerned, and two very good games should be seen.

feel that without the "League" cricket will be dead in the Colony, but I happen to be one of the minority—those who hold that the game will be all the better for it. However, this question has been thrashed out time and again, so there is no point in starting all over again.

Craigengower Cricket Club will be at home to the Indian Recreation Club in what promises to be a close game, with the odds in favour of the Sookunpoo team. Somehow or other, the Indians invariably get the better of their clashes with the C.C.C. but I for one will not be surprised if the latter force a draw to-day, especially if U.M. Omar should strike form with the ball.

The University entertain the Civil Servants who should win, despite the fact that they will be playing on the matting wicket at Pokfulam. The best game of the day promises to be that between Kowloon and the Army at King's Park. The result will probably be a draw.

The Juniors

In the second Division the Civil Servants should have the better of the University while the Indians ought to at least hold Craigengower seconds to a draw. The meeting between Police and K.C.C. will be interesting. In their League fixture the K.C.C. won comfortably but I doubt if they will be able to take things so easily again, unless, of course, the Police team should be affected by Race Week duties.

Hockey

BY R.H.B.

The Shanghai Ladies Hockey Interport team left the Colony yesterday morning for the North aboard the a.s. Naldera. The Interport match.

played in brilliant weather, was really splendid and, as Sir Atholl MacGregor so ably put it, "a draw was the most satisfactory conclusion to such an extremely exciting and splendid exhibition of hockey."

Hong Kong's attack, I am convinced, would have been strengthened a great deal by the inclusion of Miss Phyllis Gittins or, even, Miss Helen Bockler, to the exclusion of Miss F. Marsh who was to my mind, the weakest link in the chain of attack. As to the strength and combination of the Northern team there was no question. Their defence was first class and the display of Miss Frances Bonke and Miss Victor, at back, will be long remembered by all who saw the game. The White Interport shield, I am given to understand, will remain in the Colony as Hong Kong has won it since its inception in 1935. Shanghai has taken to draw Hong Kong's flag back with them while their flag has been handed over to local custody.

There remains one match in the Caer Clark Cup to complete the competition and, at the same time, to decide the next holders of the Southern Trophy for runners-up. The match is between the H.K. L.H.C. former champions of the Caer Clark Cup, and the St. Andrew's Club Ladies who have previously won the Southern Trophy on no less than four occasions. The H.K. Ladies have 10 points and the Saints have nine points to date. The match will probably be decided on Saturday, February 27, and will be worth seeing.

TURKISH VISIT TO GENEVA

Sanjak Agreement Negotiations

Istanbul, Feb. 18. The Turkish Delegation which will proceed to Geneva on Saturday to conduct negotiations for the effective working of the Sanjak agreement, has received detailed instructions from the Cabinet Council.

It is believed that the delegates were ordered not to make any concessions, since it was reported that protest demonstrations of the Syrians were to take place. It is believed possible that the Turkish delegation will demand that steps be taken immediately at Geneva to suppress anti-Turkish propaganda. Official quarters point out that Turkey would never permit acts of violence with the intention to prevent the Sanjak agreement from being carried out.

Penalties For Profiteering In France

Paris, Feb. 18. The anti-profiteering bill, which was approved by the Cabinet Council, provides that all higher prices for goods, provisions or service beyond the price level which existed on July 1, 1936, unless the higher price is justified by the rise in cost of raw materials or higher social welfare, will be regarded as unjustifiable and punishable. The punishment will be a fine up to 100,000 francs and prison sentences ranging from one month to three years.

LABOUR ATTITUDE ON ARMS LOAN

London, Feb. 18. Hon. A.V. Alexander in the course of the Armaments Debate in the House of Commons to-day. He stated that by the armaments loan of £400 million, the standard of living in England would be appreciably lower for an entire generation. He stated that the armaments programme could be carried out at a much lower cost.

DARING ARMED ROBBERS

Nathan Hotel Room Entered

The Nathan Hotel in Nathan Road, Kowloon, was the scene of a daring armed robbery early yesterday morning when two criminals—one of whom was armed with a revolver—entered it and plundered one of its rooms.

According to a police report, the crime took place during the breakfast hour. The robbers quietly entered the hotel and proceeded to the second floor where one of them knocked on the door of Room 404, occupied by Mr. Kwok Sun, managing director of the United Chinese Bank at Singapore, and a friend. They offered Mr. Sun a letter and whilst he was reading it one of the men reached out and caught hold of his wrist. His companion then produced a revolver with which he held up the occupants of the room.

Keeping Mr. Sun and his friend at pistol point, the robbers then proceeded to systematically plunder the room. Mr. Sun shouted out "Robbers!" whereupon the men ran away. The banker pluckily gave chase after the men down the stairs, and one of the alleged assailants was captured by a hotel employee.

It was reported later that a second man was arrested.

RELIGION: PERSONAL AND IMPERSONAL

III-The First Formulation Of The Church

(BY SCRUTATOR)

The Church which Jesus founded (if he can be said to have founded a Church at all) and the Kingdom which he preached were one and indivisible. The first being the visible expression of the second. This is a truth which must never be forgotten in every consideration of the history of an institution which calls itself a Christian Church. There can be no spiritual basis for the existence of a community calling itself by the name of Christ, than that it is founded by him, not historically only, but immediately. This is the first and fundamental criterion to which every Christian institution must submit.

It is not a matter of vital importance in a consideration of the history of the Christian institution that we should be able to determine the exact length of Jesus' ministry; existing computations vary from a period of one year to a period of three years, but whatever is actual time existence, it can be qualitatively divided into three parts.

The initial period, beginning after the Temptations, is one of struggle with worldly powers; the second, beginning after the Feeding of the Five Thousand, is one of comparative peacefulness and retreat from strenuous converse with the people; and the third and last period begins with the statement of Jesus' determination to go to Jerusalem, a period of struggle, defeat, and victory.

During the first period Jesus taught and healed all who came to him, addressing himself through the highways and by-ways, to all the simple folk who crowded to hear his message, for the Galileans were simple folk, unspoiled by the evils of Pharisaeism. His popularity increased until it attracted the enmities of the Jerusalem authorities who sent reports of him to their superiors. His battle with Pharisaeic hostility now begins. It did not take Jesus long to learn that all active combating of prejudice and hatred was exhausting and impotent of real achievement. He withdrew from the contest and from the region of the Herodian jurisdiction where his silencing might be effected by treachery when in could not be compassed by argument or by the assertion of official authority. He retreated with his disciples to the northern and eastern non-Jewish shores of the Sea of Galilee. There, then, in the mountain fastnesses and by the quiet wave-washed strands, he strove to convince and confirm the impression which his personality and his message had made upon the twelve pupils or learners whom he had chosen.

The Truth Dawns
Only gradually did something of his truth dawn upon the minds of each one of them in turn. They learned that nothing mattered to their Master but the spreading of the Kingdom of God. "In quietness and confidence," not by the assertion of authority, but through his words and with the memory of his deeds still strong in their minds, they came to feel and to know, so that when the time was ripe and he asked them, they were prepared to admit, that he was their Messiah. And so the age-long hopes of all Israel were fulfilled in the birth of a little society of men, humble and unlearned men living in an alien land, knit together by a new regard for each other, by a new attitude to God and to life, and with a great reverence for him who had led them into these possessions.

Immediately the third and last stage of his short life began and the disciples learned that their newly accepted Messiah must face a felon's death. Doubts and fears were renewed within them and they forsook him and fled in the last hours, when through the agony of crucifixion he summed up all his arguments and teaching that nothing had as last achieved a divine disinterestedness—the Son of God and of man had died for love of God and man.

It was impossible that such an achievement in life and death should come to be regarded merely as an ancient drama, an old miracle play; the myth, the carina and the aloes because not the embodiment of a glorious remembrance, but a voice offering to a living power, for although the disciples found it exceedingly difficult to express intelligible their individual experiences, they each knew that their Master was not dead.

When the morning after the Crucifixion dawned and found the disciples scattered, the first formulation of the Church was dissipated. How long it was before its members had courage to return to Jerusalem to be reconstituted, no man knows.

A whole pregnant chapter of the history of the Early Church had to be sacrificed to cover the traces of the disciples' own defection and despair. In St. Luke's Gospel and his Acts we can see the process of expurgation visibly at work. The disciples according to the new orthodoxy, never left Jerusalem. Doctrine was transmuting history. But the only impregnable doctrine is history. To history belongs the reality of Simon's experience of the continued existence of Jesus. It is with historical fact alone that we must primarily concern ourselves, and Mr. Middleton Murry has undoubtedly written truly when he asserts that the disciples' experience of the continued existence of Jesus is historical fact. "The great Christian Church," he continues, "was built, not on a lie, but on the truth. What then is that truth? For answer we must turn to the story of the second and subsequent formulations of the Christian Church."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, to-morrow, February 21, will be: "Mind."

The Golden Text will be: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding." (Proverbs 3:5)

Among others, the following citations from the Bible will be read: "My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee; so that thou incline thine ear unto wisdom, and apply thine heart to understanding; if thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures; then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God. For the Lord giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding." (Proverbs 2:1-8)

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following citations from the Christian Science Text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian science reveals incontrovertibly that Mind is All-in-all, that the only realities are the divine Mind and idea. This great fact, is not, however, seen to be supported by sensible evidence, until its divine Principle is demonstrated by healing the sick and thus proved absolute and divine. (This proof once seen, no other conclusion can be reached. For three years after my discovery, I sought the solution of this problem of Mind-healing, searched the Scriptures and read little else, kept aloof from society, and devoted time and energies to discovering a position rule. The Scriptures were illumined; reason and revelation were reconciled, and afterwards the truth of Christian Science was demonstrated. Let us accept Science, relinquish all theories based on sense testimony, give up imperfect models and illustrate ideals; and so let us have one God, one Mind, and that one perfect, producing His own models of excellence." (Pages 109, 110, 249).

CATHOLIC NEWS AND NOTES

National Catholic Welfare Conference

During the past week a representative of the N.C.W.C. (National Catholic Welfare Conference) passed through Hong Kong. The N.C.W.C. are familiar initials to readers of Catholic papers for they indicate a highly efficient Catholic news service which has its headquarters in the United States.

The representative, Mr. Hawke, who spent a few days in Hong Kong, was its special representative at the Manila Congress, and travelled from Philadelphia via Europe and the Philippine Islands to Hong Kong in company with Cardinal Dougherty.

Reporting of Catholic news is only one branch of the work of the N.C.W.C., for it also has departments dealing with Social Action, Education and many other matters. The board of the whole organization is composed of Bishops elected at the annual meeting of American Bishops. Several members of this board passed through Hong Kong recently, including Archbishop Rummel of New Orleans, Chairman of the Legal Department, Bishop Noll, Chairman of the Department of Lay Organisation, Archbishop Hoban of Rockford, Ill.

CATHOLIC NEWS SERVICES

There are many other Catholic news services organized to collect and distribute news which is of interest to Catholics. The most extensive is the Fides agency, which covers all the mission areas, which covers all the mission areas, which covers all the mission areas.

For all the Fides correspondents are actual missionaries who write about things that come under their own personal observation. It is this agency which supplies a good deal of the matter that is broadcast from the Vatican Radio Station, which faithfully tells of events in very distant lands. Listeners in China within the past week will have been interested to hear a detailed account of the method employed by Mr. Meyer, M.M. in teaching catechism in the Prefecture of Wuchow, Kwangsi.

China has its own Catholic News Service the Lumen, founded and still very efficiently directed from Peking by Fr. Dietz, M.M., who spent several years as a missionary in the Kowloon district, Kwangtung.

ST. PETER'S CHAIR

The "Feast of St. Peter's Chair," which appears on the Catholic Church calendar for the coming week sometimes causes surprise to those who are not familiar with Catholic liturgy, and the fact that an actual chair in Rome is preserved with respect as "St. Peter's Chair" has caused many to think quite erroneously, that it is the actual chair which is the object of the feast. There are in fact two feasts in which the "Chair of St. Peter" is commemorated. One, in the middle of January, was in honour of "St. Peter's Chair at Rome" next Monday's feast is "St. Peter's Chair at Antioch."

Both feasts simply recall the day on which the Apostle Peter was first "seated" as head of the Church, was first "blissed in Rome and Antioch." The latter denotes the day when he first presided at a religious ceremony in Rome; the second the day when the See of Antioch was established. Next week's feast was not at first attributed to Antioch, and in early years it was celebrated with great solemnity in Rome as traditional anniversary of the day when Peter bore witness by the Sea of Tiberias to the divinity of Christ, and was named by Him the rock on which His Church was founded. For that reason the reason the feast was sometimes spoken of as that "on which Peter was first chosen pope."

The material chair venerated in St. Peter's Church is believed by a very old tradition to have been actually used by St. Peter—or rather, that it has incorporated in its wood of this old chair. Even in its present form it is a very ancient chair, and it was used for the coronation of popes until the temporary transfer of the papal capital to Avignon in the fourteenth century.

WAY OF THE CROSS

During Lent a common devotion in Catholic Churches is that of the "Way of the Cross" or Stations, in which the last events of the Passion of Christ, from the condemnation to the burial, are recalled, and certain prayers said or sung. The first "Stations" are said to have been erected in the churches when the hands of fanatical enemies of Christianity, as it was then no longer possible for people to go there to visit them, as had long been the custom. The fourteen pictures which represent the scenes recalled are a familiar object in Catholic churches all over the world, and have sometimes been notable works of art.

Among the most remarkable sets of "Stations" produced in modern times is one of the most remarkable sets of "Stations" produced in modern times is one of the most remarkable sets of "Stations" produced in modern times.

Many artists media have been used for the Stations, open scullie being perhaps the most suitable, but painting, or reproduction of painting, is the most common. Of modern English painters who have painted sets of pictures for the Way of the Cross, Frank Brangwyn is the most successful.

BEAUTY, THE GOAL OF ARTS

"Is Beauty the goal of the Arts?" began Olive M. Parkinson, M.A. at last Thursday's Theosophical Society lecture. Quoting from authorities and theosophical writers the speaker emphasised the Unity that lay in Art. There was One Source, "the creative impulse" which in its own planes, unfettered by Time and Space was undifferentiated. As Art descending into the more transient worlds of the personality seven main divisions were soon evident. These could be grouped into the Time arts and the Space arts with Literature as the bridge between both. The Time arts were Music, Poetry, Drama and the corresponding Space arts were Architecture, Sculpture and Painting.

A definition of beauty arrived at after a full presentation of arguments was that it was the imposition of something beyond through which a sensitive artist could impress spectators possessing a like sensitiveness.

Three factors made up the perception of Beauty. One was, of course, Beauty the transcendental thing itself. The second was the object possessing the beauty and the third was the subjective ability to receive the beauty.

Eastern ideas of the Arts and their purpose placed them as methods inducing a higher morality and among the more philosophic sages as a means of reaching the Supreme.

In her summing up of the arguments Mrs. Parkinson said, "The development of the creative spirit in Man by the pursuit of an ever-changing, ever-growing conception of Beauty—Beauty which is coincident with our ever-evolving conception of Truth or which will in the ultimate resolve itself together with Truth, in our perception of Divinity."

A lively discussion followed and it was emphatically stated by a member of the audience that there was such a thing as ugliness despite the assertion made by the lecturer that there was beauty in everything. The reply was that just as a discord in a symphony increased the harmony, so that every step taken by the Units in God's Consciousness also increased the harmony of the Grand Symphony of Evolution.

LAST OF THE PAGANS

The wreck of a small schooner, and being marooned on an uncharted reef in the Pacific was one of the thrills experienced by a Hollywood motion picture company, searching the South Seas for a "forgotten island."

This adventure befall the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer unit under Richard Thorpe, director, filming "Last of the Pagans," romance of Polynesian native life which comes to-day to the Majestic Theatre.

The company was five months making the picture in the tropics, mostly on an uncharted coral island where the white man was practically unknown.

It was during the search for this island that the wreck occurred, during a sudden tropical squall. The schooner landed on a reef. When no further short wave message were heard from the schooner, a searching ship set out from Tahiti to find Thorpe, Mala, the Eakino hero of the picture, Lotus Long and the technical crew, camping on the reef. They were taken back to Tahiti, the radio, and other boat, and set out again, this time finding their "forgotten island" without difficulty.

GO WEST YOUNG MAN

One of the most hilarious and delightful comedies of the season "Go West Young Man" with Mae West, opens at the Queen's Theatre today.

"Go West Young Man" is the story of a romantic movie actress who is forbidden to marry by a clause in her contract. Warren William, her press agent, is paid to see to it that she doesn't violate the the contract. After breaking up what promises to be a romantic evening between Miss West and Lyle Talbot, William starts for Harrisburg, Pennsylvania with her.

The car breaks down and they are forced to put up at Alice Brady's farm where Randolph Scott, an auto mechanic and inventor, has a service station. "Miss West falls for the handsome inventor. William breaks up several meetings between them and is finally forced to resort to several ruses in order to break up the budding romance.

Miss West finally finds the romance she was seeking with the very man who was paid to keep it from her.

Popeye The Sailor Meets Sindbad The Sailor.

"Popeye the Sailor" is a special added attraction together with the Mae West picture.

Popeye the Sailor, "two-fisted" hero of cartoon strip and screen, reached an important milestone in his movie career with the production of his first full-colour, three-dimensional film, "Popeye the Sailor Meets Sindbad the Sailor," the first two-reel cartoon ever made.

LADIES IN LOVE

With the most exciting and brilliant star combination ever to appear in one picture, "Ladies in Love," new Twentieth Century-Fox production, opens at the Star Theatre tomorrow. It is a bitter-sweet romance of four lonesome, lovely girls, and their adventures in search of love.

A quartette of Hollywood's most famous feminine personalities, Janet Gaynor, Loretta Young, Constance Bennett and Simone Simon, appears in the film, with the cast featuring Don Ameche, Paul Lukas, Tyrone Power, Jr., and Alan Mowbray.

Of the four lovely ladies, one gambles for love and loses, one gambles for love and wins, one asks for love and gets it, love asks for the fourth—too late.

These four wise girls—Janet, Loretta, Constance and Simone—living by their wits, trusting their charms to make their dreams come true, supply a fascinating answer to the romantic question—how can a girl get married till she's asked!

All do not succeed in their love affairs. To two comes happiness to the others heart-break. But all, in some measure, succeed in making their dreams of real romance come true.

These four famous feminine screen favourites introduce four exciting new techniques for romance in "Ladies in Love," which promises to be one of the year's outstanding triumphs.

Darryl F. Zanuck selected Edward E. Griffith to direct the production, and B. G. DeSylva associate producer.

CHOREARTIUM

An unusually interesting exposition of Ballet will be given in Hong Kong on April 1, when George Goncharoff and his pupils present Choreartium at the King's Theatre. The music is by Liszt and included in the programme, we understand, will be that very interesting and difficult pas de deux from the last Act of the Swan Lake, in which Margot Fonteyn, a late pupil of Goncharoff, won such high praise from Danilova. This will be danced by Mital Felder and Goncharoff, and should prove of outstanding value to all who are interested in great ballet.

Choreartium is ballet without a connective theme. Unlike Les Sylphides, which was the last performance of the Volkovs School, Choreartium lends itself more readily to the display of the talent of dancers of various ages and abilities, and Goncharoff's show this year will have all the advantages in interest which the range of his pupils ages afford.

EGYPT TO ENGLAND IN TWO DAYS

Empire Air Boat's
170 M.P.H.

An experiment designed to eliminate long train journeys across Europe in connection with Empire air services, was completed successfully when the Imperial Airways flying boat Centaurus arrived at Southampton.

The Centaurus left Alexandria with eight passengers and a ton of mail. After a night at Brindisi the machine travelled on to Southampton with only one halt for refuelling at Marseilles.

The 850 miles to Marseilles was covered at an average speed of 170 m.p.h., the Centaurus arriving half an hour before schedule. Owing to a detour to avoid bad weather, the last stage of 620 miles occupied five hours.

The new service will not be introduced on a regular basis until a sufficient number of Empire flying boats has been delivered.

ROYAL GOLD MEDAL

For Sir R. Unwin

The Council of the Royal Institute of British Architects have unanimously decided to recommend that the name of Sir Raymond Unwin should be submitted to the King as a suitable recipient for the Royal Gold Medal for 1937.

The medal, instituted by Queen Victoria in 1848, is annually conferred by the Sovereign on some distinguished architect, or man of science or letters, who has designed or executed a building of high merit, or produced a work tending to promote or facilitate the knowledge of architecture.

Sir Raymond Unwin is world famous as a town planner.

He was for many years Chief Architect to the Ministry of Health. From 1931 to 1933 he was President of the R.I.B.A.

"WILLPOWER"

This film, to be presented by the German Community at the "King's Theatre" to-morrow morning, will depict the National Socialist Party's Rally at Nuremberg.

The film shows Herr Hitler opening the Congress, reviewing 62,000 Labour Men, the Hitler Youth, conducting the memorial ceremony at the Luitpold Hall, attending the farmers pageant, reviewing the Storm Troops and Black Coats, and ends with the Grand Review.

Among the speakers pictured will be Dr. Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda, Rudolf Hess, Herr Hitler's Deputy. The film will be of intense interest to all who wish to gain first hand impressions of the men in whose hands lie the destinies of Germany to-day. The review of the Hitler Youth, and the exposition upon the Führer's words of those who will in future carry the responsibility of ruling the nation on their shoulders, the reception granted the men-in-power by the peasants, the backbone of the nation, are moments of intense interest.

What this film eventually wants to show, is that Germany is firmly united, under the guidance of Adolf Hitler, and that the German Nation belongs to Hitler and Hitler belongs to the German people.

CAN THIS BE DIXIE?

A long, sleek car travelling through the San Francisco Valley comes to a sudden stop as the man at the wheel rubs his eyes in wonder. Before him stretches a big field of cotton. In drawing Texas dialect he addresses an ostensible overseer.

"Pardon me, sub, but how can you grow cotton in California this time of year? I'm a Texas cotton grower."

"Don't know anything about cotton," is the reply. "All I know is that I was given three weeks to produce a field of cotton—and here it is!"

The "overseer" is Randolph Bylek, landscape art director for Twentieth Century-Fox studios, and he explains that the field was needed for Jane Withers' latest picture "Can This Be Dixie?", which opens at the Alhambra Theatre today.

In the middle of his explanation Director George Marshall and "Ginger" Jane drive up and comment on the fact that less than a month ago this flourishing cotton field was covered with weeds.

Advance reports herald "Can This Be Dixie?" as by far the best picture "Ginger" Jane has made to date. Directed by George Marshall from an original story he wrote in collaboration with Lamar Trotti, it boasts an unusual cast which includes Slim Summerville, Helen Wood, Thomas Beck, Sam Haden, Claude Gillingwater, Donald Cook and a host of other celebrated film players.

The lilting musical numbers were composed by Sidney Clare and Harry Akst, and the dances were staged by Sammy Lee.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1937

Every two years there is presented to the movie-lovers of the world, under the generic title of "Gold Diggers," a big and merry melange of rich comedy.

"Gold Diggers of 1937," showing to-day at the King's Theatre, is another of these.

Dick Powell and Joan Blondell are the stars. It will be an unforgettable picture for both of them because it was during the making of this big musical that their courtship was conducted. And it was on the day after their last scene together that they were married and started honeymooning.

The settings of the 1937 "Gold Diggers" are larger and more imposing than those of any previous one of the series. There's an immense convention hall in Atlantic City, a vast estate on Long Island and a complete theatre in New York, among others.

BOXING DAY FATALITY

Case Against Car Driver Ends

JUDGMENT RESERVED

The case in which Fun So, of the Hong Kong Hotel, Garage, was charged with driving his car on Boxing Day, 1936, along Tai Po Road without due care and caution, was brought to a conclusion at the Kowloon Magistrate's yesterday when Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen reserved judgment until Monday at 10.30 a.m.

It will be recalled that as the result of a collision with the car that the defendant was driving at the time, a car driven by a Chinese lady, Mrs. Cheng, was thrown over a bridge and Mrs. Tong, a passenger on the car eventually succumbed to the injuries sustained on that day.

At yesterday's hearing Mr. O. E. C. Marton, for the defence, stressed the point that Mrs. Cheng had suddenly swerved to the centre of the road to avoid a cyclist who was in the way, and that this happened just when the defendant was overtaking Mrs. Cheng's car.

Mr. E. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney-General, for the prosecution, argued that the defendant should have waited for a signal to overtake before doing so.

Octogenarian's Estate

A British widow, Anna Hunter, alias Goot Choi, otherwise Kot (or Cot) Choy, who died at 11, Shelley Street, first floor, in January, left local estate worth $14,300.

A petition by Tobias Hunter, merchant, and May Cock (nee Hunter), married woman, of No. 301, Amherst Road, Shanghai, for letters of administration to the estate, has been granted by the Supreme Court.

The deceased is survived by three sons, Mr. James Hunter, aged 62, Mr. George Hunter, 60, Mr. Tobias Hunter, 59, and a daughter, Mrs. May Cock, 57. The deceased was in her 83rd year.

NOT HIS OWN TICKET

Attempting to use a monthly ticket not issued in his name at the Yauwatt Ferry Wharf, Siu Piu, 29, a shrewd, was fined $15 by Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistrate's yesterday.

Siu Kee, 19, shop foki, was charged with transferring his ticket. Second defendant said that he bought the monthly ticket for his shop foki to use to which Inspector Shannan replied that such practice is not allowed. Second defendant was discharged and cautioned.

Rifle Club Meeting

WEDDING AT REGISTRY

Stevens-Leppard

At the Registry of Marriages yesterday afternoon the wedding took place between Mr. Alexander Stevens and Miss Joan Leppard. The Deputy Registrar of Marriages (Mr. J. F. Murphy) officiated, and the witnesses were Dr. J. A. R. Selby, of the Government Medical Department, and Sgt. J. R. T. Hodges, R.E.

The bride looked charming in a blue dress with hat to tone. The bride is the daughter of Warrant Officer C. Thomas Leppard, R.E. and Mrs. Leppard, of No. 45 Kennedy Road, and is a member of the Central British Association Ladies' senior hockey team.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. Robert Stevens and Mrs. Stevens, and is a technical assistant in the Government Medical Department.

Friends attending the Registry ceremony included Dr. and Mrs. Selby, Sgt. J. R. T. Hodges, Dr. Cheung, Dr. (Miss) P. Ruttonjee, Miss K. Winch and Nurse Sung.

The happy couple are leaving for England to-day aboard the P. and O. liner Corfu.

FRAUD FOUND OUT

Coal Merchant Learns The Truth

Ho To-sang, 36, unemployed, was brought before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistrate's yesterday on two charges of obtaining quantities of coal from Tang Ping, proprietor of the Chan King coal dealer, on two occasions, with intent to defraud.

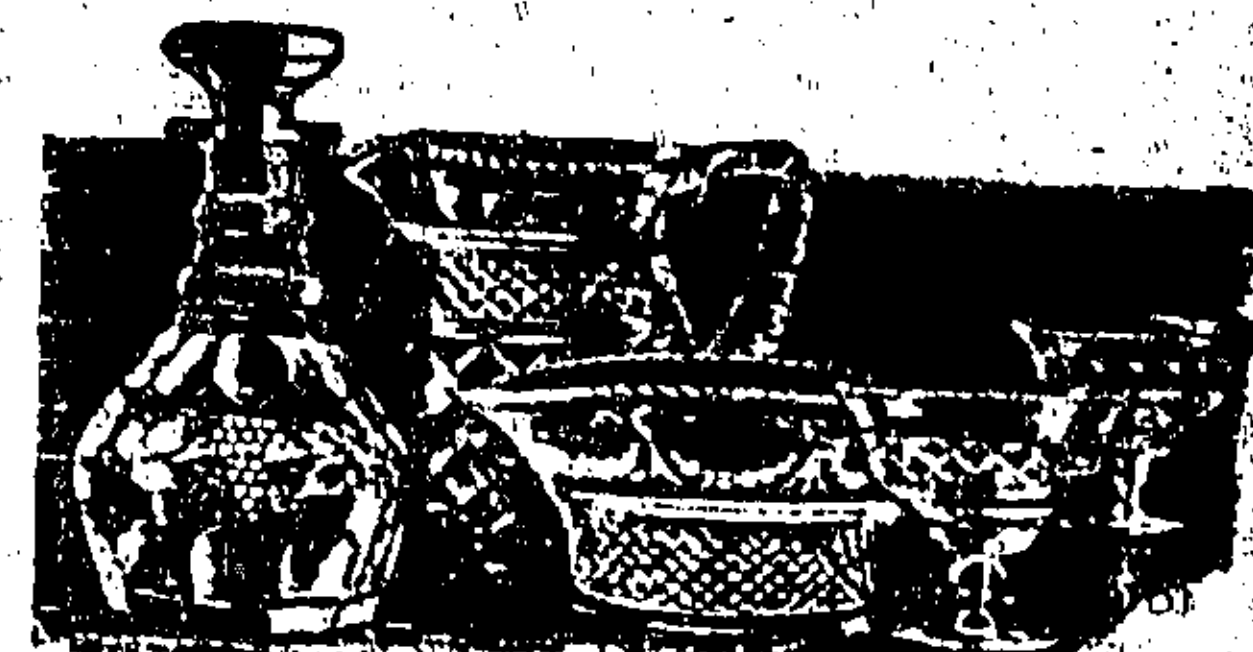

Complainant told the Court that in October last, defendant came into his shop saying that he was a foki of the Man Cheung cloth factory at Un Long, and ordered 20 tons of coal at $14 per ton. He produced a chop from the Yu Hing Cheung furniture store, and informed complainant that the store would guarantee payment.

In November last he came again, and this time ordered 19 tons, and also used this chop as guarantee.

Seeing that he did not settle his account for a considerable time, complainant arrested Ho, and from enquiries made it was discovered that the man was a fraud.

Defendant was sentenced to four months' imprisonment for the two offences.

Get rid of Disfiguring Blemishes this Easy Way

Nothing can be more distracting to a woman than ugly pimples, burning irritations, or patches of blackheads or enlarged pores on the face or neck. Some resort to heavy powdering in an effort to hide them; whilst others cause the skin to become muddy-looking, coarse and blemished by using the wrong treatment.

To make your skin clear and healthy, to cleanse clogged facial pores, remove blackheads and pimples and to make your complexion clearer and smoother, use Cuticura.

Cleanse the skin with Cuticura Soap twice a day. Its luxuriant and mildly antiseptic lather is soothing and softening; washes away pore-deep dirt which causes blackheads, enlarged pores and ugly complexion defects.

To rid the skin of pimples, skin outbreaks, rashes or irritations use Cuticura Ointment direct on the affected part before washing with the soap. Its antiseptic action kills germs, soothes and heals and quickly clears the skin.

Moscow Mystery

Even those who, because they like or because they detest the Soviet regime, pretend always to understand its activities admit themselves baffled by the latest mass trial of veteran Bolsheviks.

If the confessions are accepted as valid the irresistible conclusion is that the much advertised achievements of the first and second Five-Year Plans were carried out largely under the direction of men who were plotting, all the while, to hand over one-half of Russia to Germany and the other half to Japan, in the hope of establishing genuine Communism in the non-existent residue.

Another deduction that must be made, if the confessions' validity is assumed, is that a number of Jews looked forward eagerly to Nazi rule, and that Soviet military strength, far from being formidable, is in fact negligible, because of the activities of wreckers in armament factories and on the railways.

If, on the other hand, the confessions were bogus, there is the mystery of how they were obtained.

It is true that in medieval witch trials inconceivable practices were often confessed to.

At the same time, in the case of the latest Soviet trial, there was not one prisoner, but many, and among them as tough and versatile and experienced a person as Radek.

What had Radek to gain by pretending he had carried on a long and dangerous correspondence with Trotsky? Why should he, for many years the authentic mouthpiece of the Soviet Government, admit to carrying on negotiations with German secret service agents, when, if he found Stalin's Government disappointing, he cannot but have found Hitler's intolerable?

It may be urged that his reward for standing by these admissions is that his life has been spared. But how was he to know it would be spared? What guarantee had he, knowing the fate suffered by so many of his comrades, although their confessions had been abject and comprehensive enough to satisfy the most exacting demands?

There are those who will turn King's evidence when past experience shows that it pays. When past experience points the other way, who but a fool is going to add humiliation to his other sufferings?

The difficulty is, in trying to understand the series of prosecutions by the Government they themselves established, that it is impossible for an outsider to recreate the atmosphere in which these men have been living since they became masters of Russia. They got into power by underground intrigue, and they fear underground intrigue. They fear everyone, especially one another.

Not being able to recreate this atmosphere, the outsider cannot but rub his eyes and admit himself baffled. He does not know what Radek, Sokolnikov and the others have done, or not done. He feels about their confessions much as he does when a mental home patient tells him in the most confident manner that he is the Nizam of Hyderabad.

All he knows is that such trials are a symptom of an essentially

(BY PRUDENCE)

The Rose Room of the Peninsula Hotel was filled to capacity last Tuesday night for the Supper Dance given by the Hong Kong Ladies Hockey Association. It was a great event, and essentially a "Young Peoples" evening. All the hockey, football, and cricket enthusiasts of the Colony seemed to be assembled, and never have I seen such a collection of pretty girls and good-looking young men in one gathering.

The official guests were Sir Atholl and Lady Macgregor, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Osborne, Capt. and Mrs. Kimm and Mr. and Mrs. J. Roger, while the guests of honour were the Shanghai Ladies and football interlopers, (who were having a well-earned night-off).

May I confess to a small thrill when I recognised Mr. Boisserson the marvellous "goalie" when that crowd of stalwarts came into the ballroom. But perhaps I was not the only one! Mrs. Tam Pearce looked charming in black, and had a big party at her table. Mrs. Kimm was there, slender on this occasion, to mention visitors, while I know them all on the hockey field (in simple sports kit, with the light of battle in their eyes) it is quite a different matter to identify these same young ladies in the glory of evening attire.

THE SHANGHAI LADIES

Mrs. Sheridan was easy to recognise, and one of her admirers described her dress as the colour of a cloud in a sunset sky and I don't think I can improve that description! Frankie Bomko was dainty in pink lace. Elsie Little had a charming frock of printed crepe. Nora Kelly wore black, relieved by a vivid flower. Lottie Schmidt had a most attractive tunic dress of red lace. Mrs. Williams caught my eye in red silver. I loved the easy, ble worn by Debbie Bloomfield, and her sister was charming in royal blue. Nancy Motters had a most attractive little crimson jacket. Miss Lebo a clever dress of wine-colour, and the reserve "goalie" Barbara Dunlop looked ed very pleasing in dark green, and Lyrra Carion was charming in red. But what about our own people? Well you may be sure they were all there, and very nice too!

Joan Smalley looked most charming in soft powder-blue belted with silver, and her sister Miss was very sweet in black velvet, with a cute little bow at the neck. Eve Gray wore cerise with clever touches of deep blue. Anne Fowler was very statuesque in gleaming white brocade. Doris Hunt (a whirlwind on the field and a fish in the water) looked most dainty in blue with pretty puffed sleeves and a glistening diadem.

POPULAR PAUL JONES

Phyllis Gittins was graceful in palest pink. Jill Holland was quite lovely in black with a big spray of poppies, and Miss Blackmore had a lovely white dress sprinkled with dainty white roses. Miss West (one of St. Andrews strongest players) had a tunic of tounisue over black. Another well-known player was Miss Wong, in becoming blue taffeta, while her sister was daintily dressed in flowered chiffon. I can hardly believe that Peggy Stringer, (whom I remember as one of Miss Capelli's most promising pupils) is grown-up now, and going to Jamaica, but there she was, in a desirable little frock of blue.

Two very young girls dressed alike in white, with cherry ribbons, turned out to be Miss Booker and her sister.

Mrs. Harrop had a very pretty dress of mist-blue relieved with touches of lavender. Mrs. Burke too looked charming. Miss Woolley wore wine-red velvet, and her sister cerise. Mrs. Roger looked wonderful in black. Miss Horne had a lovely "picture" dress, and a Donald looked charming as always.

Supper was served about midnight, after which dancing continued. Paul Jones was very popular, and gave an opportunity for all the different groups to intermingling. One very young girl confessed that she liked it best of all.

Oh! it must be grand to be young and a hockey-player, dancing "on top of the world" at the Peninsula after a hectic week with the "Interlopers".

BADMINTON OPEN DOUBLES

A match in the open doubles badminton championship was played at Kowloon Tong last night when P. K. Hui and T. C. Lee (University) defeated N. A. E. Mackay and A. Chan (Kowloon Tong "A") by the scores of 15-2, 15-4.

Another match was decided at St. Andrew's Church Hall. K. S. Law and K. L. Yong (University) defeated H. Kew and E. F. Fincher (St. Andrew's "A") 16-8, 4-15, 15-13.

LEAGUE DOUBLES

Two games of the Badminton League was played last night when both the St. John's Club and Club Recrelo were successful over their opponents. The St. John's won by six games to three, while the latter scored an 8-1 victory.

unwholesome state of affairs, and that if they are inevitable for the creating of a classless, Socialist society, then that objective cannot be as desirable a one as those who pursue it suggest.

Those who live by the sword must perish by the sword, and those who govern by fear must inevitably at last succumb to fear. It has been shown monotonously that the terrorist's doom is to fall a victim to the machinery of terror he has himself created.

MR. H. K. HUNG'S FUNERAL

Large Attendance

A large number of relatives and friends gathered to pay their last respects when the funeral of Mr. Hung King-kam, whose death was recorded in our columns yesterday, took place at the Ho Tung Cemetery, Pokfulam, last evening. The last rites were performed at the Wing Bit Ting, Pokfulam, when the large number of people present filed past the coffin, bowing three times before it before passing on.

The chief mourners were the sons and daughters and Messrs. H. C. Hung, Harold Hung, W. C. Hung, D. W. and A. Hung, nephews.

Others present were Sir Robert and Lady Ho Tung, the Hon. D. R. H. Kotewall, Messrs. T. S. Whyte-Smith, J. B. Penning, Geo. K. Hall, Brutton, Eldon Potter, E.C., the Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo, the Hon. Mr. Leo d'Almada, Messrs. H. K. Lee, H. Lee, D. Strellett, H. C. Macnamara, G. S. Hugh Jones, R. Choa, G. She, M. W. Lo, F. E. Nash, G. S. Ford, Wong Tak-kyong, R. A. Wadeson, O. E. C. Marum, Li Yau-tsun and Dr. I. W. Kew.

FLORAL TRIBUTES
Among those who sent floral tributes were: His Excellency Sir Andrew Caldecott, Sir Atholl Macgregor, the Hon. Mr. Leo d'Almada.

SPANISH CITIZENS IN SHANGHAI

Lack Of Consular Representation

Amazing Situation

Shanghai, February 19. Lack of Spanish consular representation in Shanghai has created an amazing situation for Shanghai's 130 Spanish citizens. Mr. E. V. Ferrer resigned the post as Consul General for Spain in September last, but now claims the appointment from the Spanish Nationalist Government which, however, is not recognized by China.

When Mr. Ferrer resigned the Vice-Consul became acting Consul-General representing the Madrid Government, but later he disappeared.

In view of Spain's extraterritorial rights, it appears there is no authority available which can take legal cognizance of Spanish citizens in Shanghai who theoretically therefore can commit any crime with impunity.

The International Consular Body has been asked to take action, failing which it is suggested the Chinese Government might intervene.—
Reuter.

AMES STOPS THE ROT

Six M.C.C. Wickets Drop For 66

Melbourne, Feb. 19. Six wickets fell for 66 runs when the M.C.C. faced the bowling of Victoria after lunch in saltry weather before a crowd of 3,000. There was no play in the morning owing to heavy rain overnight which left the outfield sodden, although the wicket was not affected.

The six wickets to fall were those of Verity (1), Barnett (1), Hardstaff (14), Hammond (14), Leyland (19) and Wyatt (1).

At this stage Ames stopped the rot by scoring an unfinished 59 and, with Robins (33), he added 56 runs for the seventh wicket. Ames played a brilliant and chanceless innings, his strokes including beautiful late-cuts and drives to the off. He has so far been at the wickets for 110 minutes and has seven boundaries to his credit.

The close of play score was 189 for 8.—
Reuter.

PERRY-VINES TENNIS DUELS

Pasadena, Feb. 19. Fred Perry beat Ellsworth Vines 8-10, 5-3, 7-5 in a match played at Pasadena, which is Vines' home town.

Vines is still leading by 11 matches to 9.—
Reuter's Bulletin Service.

STALIN'S FRIEND DEAD

Moscow, Feb. 18. M. Grigory Ordjonikidze, Commissar for Heavy Industries and life-long friend of Russia's Dictator, Stalin, who was one of the ablest members of the Political Bureau, died to-day of heart failure.—
Reuter.

CLOTH WEAVERS SEEK RELIEF

Canton, Feb. 19. Mr. Lau Chung-ping, Chairman of the Union of Native Cloth Weavers of Canton City, has called a meeting of the representatives of the different weaving factories for the purpose of considering the question of petitioning the Government for the reduction of the export duty on home-made cloth.—
Chinese Evening Press.

LONDON FIRE

London, Feb. 18. A tobacco factory and a retail tailoring factory were burnt out in London this morning. Fifty fire engines assisted in extinguishing the fire, and traffic was diverted from the vicinity for some time.—
Reuter's Bulletin Service.

HARDOON WILL DISPUTE

100-Million-Dollar Real Estate

COURT AWARD TO WIDOW

Shanghai, Feb. 19. The fate of the hundred-million-dollar real estate at least was temporarily decided in the British Supreme Court this morning when Judge Grant Jones upheld the will of Silas Aaron Hardoon, Shanghai realty millionaire, who died in 1931, leaving his entire fortune to his Chinese wife, Liza Hardoon.

Deceased's relatives claimed three-quarters of the estate under the succession law of Iraq, which was deceased's country of origin, but the Court found that Hardoon was a British-protected subject at the time of his death and awarded the estate intact to the widow.

Before the judgment was delivered, both sides announced their intention to appeal in the event of an unfavourable award.—
Reuter.

SHANGHAI TRAGEDY

Shanghai, Feb. 19. A sensation was caused here to-day when the news went round that Dr. G. F. Bume, the well-known Vienna and Shanghai lung specialist, was dead.

Dr. Bume was found shot in his apartment this morning, with a gun lying by his side.—
Reuter.

COMMUNIST "FEELER"

EXAMINATION COMPLETED

Shanghai, Feb. 19. The committees completed the examinations of the resolutions which were submitted to the fourth general meeting of the Central Executive Committee this afternoon.

The presidium decided that the fifth general meeting should begin early to-morrow to enable business to be completed in scheduled time.—
Reuter.

MANIFESTO READY

Shanghai, Feb. 19. The manifesto, drafted by Mr. Wang Ching-wei, the keynote of which was the desirability for the concentrating of the talents and resources of the whole country to face the national crisis, will be issued at the concluding session to-morrow of the Central Executive Committee.

At this session the presidium will submit important proposals including the convocation of the National People's Conference to be held on October 10.—
Reuter.

CHANG'S APPEAL

Nanking, Feb. 19. Bearing an appeal from Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang to his former troops to abide by the orders of the Government, General Ho Chu-kuo, one of the principal commanders of the North-East Army, left Sianfu by plane this morning.

After an interview with Chang Hsueh-liang at Fenghua, he returned to Nanking yesterday when he called on the Generalissimo and General Ho Ying-ching to report on the results of his visit.—
Reuter.

REVOLT RESPONSIBILITY

Nanking, Feb. 19. Assuming responsibility for the Sianfu revolt, General Kai-shek submitted the resignation of all official posts to the C.E.C. conference, but this was instantly and unanimously rejected.

It was the Generalissimo's third resignation since his return from Sianfu where he was detained.—
Reuter.

YOUNG MARSHAL TO VISIT NANKING

Shanghai, Feb. 19. Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, who engineered the coup d'etat in Sianfu on December 10, will shortly leave his retreat at Fenghua for Nanking to thank high officials for restoring his civil rights.

The Young Marshal will take another trip to Europe, having severed his connection with the radical elements in Sianfu.—
Union News.

CONTROL PLAN EXTENSION

Spanish-Portuguese Frontier

London, Feb. 19. According to informed quarters here the negotiations between Britain and Portugal over extension of the control plan for the Spanish civil war to the Spanish-Portuguese frontier, are progressing satisfactorily.

The plan now under consideration is that members of the British Embassy in Lisbon take over the control of the Portuguese land frontier. Since the 1st of the present staff of the British Embassy in Lisbon is insufficient, as the frontier control would require a large personnel, it is proposed that a central control office be established in London, and that this office nominate observers proposed by the non-British members of the Non-Intervention Committee.

The entire control organization and the secretaryship will probably be placed under "control" of a Britisher.—
Transocean News Service.

CANADA BANS KOLONTIERS

Ottawa, Feb. 19. A Canadian bill banning volunteers for foreign service has been introduced in the Commons.

The bill will make it illegal for Canadians to enlist in any foreign forces except the Canadian Army.—
Reuter's Bulletin Service.

MOSCOW "PURGE" CONTINUES

Odessa Police Chief Among The Arrested

Moscow, Feb. 19. The arrests of outstanding personalities charged with Trotskyist activities continues in Moscow and Leningrad.

The latest arrest occurred in Kiev of Bogdanov, director of the Marx-Engels-Lenin Institute. Nikolajev, chief of the Odessa Police was also arrested, as was Baranov, commander of the Submarine Fleet in the Black Sea.—
Transocean News Service.

ESPIONAGE TRIAL CHANGE OF PLEA

Washington, Feb. 18. Ex-Lieut. Comdr. Farnsworth, who is charged with selling naval information to Japanese agents, has asked the permission of the Federal Court to change his plea to not guilty.

He said his plea of guilty, made on Monday, was influenced by "enormous pressure." He said then he would offer no defence, and the court had reserved sentence.—
Reuter.

PRINCESSES MOVE TO NEW HOME

London, Feb. 19. Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose moved in to Buckingham Palace to-day where a new nursery suite has been prepared for them. They drove to their new home from 145 Piccadilly this morning.—
Reuter's Bulletin Service.

WOLFRAM PRICE JUMPS

Canton, Feb. 19. The Kwangtung Wolfram Control Department has circulated a notice to the effect that the price of Kwangtung wolfram has now been fixed at $50 per picul or $340 per ton.

All dealers in wolfram are to note that from date, the price paid for wolfram ore will be $50 per picul as notified.—
Chin Evening Press.

Capture Of Malaga Pleases Ex-King Alfonso

Salamanca, Feb. 18. General Franco has received a telegram from Rome conveying the "enthusiastic congratulations" of ex-King Alfonso on the capture of Malaga.

General Franco has replied, expressing his cordial thanks.—

THE REARMAMENT PROGRAMME

Foreign Reaction To The London Plan

America And Japan Anxious

London, February 19. Foreign reactions to the British rearmament programme are reaching London from all parts of the world. The United States and Japan are wondering what effect the enormous expenditure on British defence will have in the Pacific.

In Tokyo, naval circles are viewing Britain's defence scheme and consider that the United States, may decide to follow Britain, in which case it would affect the Far East. Japan will then be obliged to reconsider her naval position. It is opined, however, that Britain's rearmament is primarily towards Europe.—
Reuter's Bulletin Service.

A quasi-plea for the resumption of foreign lending is contained in the City editorial columns of the "Times."

While pointing out that the raising of an extra 220 million for defence purposes annually is well within this country's financial capacity, since the annual savings of the people considerably exceed that sum, the "Times" further stresses that the amount of capital diverted to finance armaments will be subtracted from that available for commercial and reproductive purposes.

"In these circumstances it may be considered strange that the embargo on foreign lending should be used to restrain the investment of British capital in an economic and remunerative enterprise in America and elsewhere, and yet it should be lifted for credits to finance budget deficits elsewhere, and even to allow a hardened defaulter like Russia to borrow from this country."—
Reuter.

MR. EDISON'S VIEWS

Washington, Feb. 18. The British naval expansion plan "will not have a bad effect on us," said Mr. Charles Edison, the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, following a conference with President Roosevelt. But he pointed out that the repercussions in America might be double-edged.

since while orders from England for various raw materials would unquestionably help business, they might handicap the American naval programme already held up for lack of steel and copper.

Mr. Edison indicated that lay-offs of shipbuilding workers will be necessary late in March unless the controversy with the steel producers is settled and delivery of essential commodities undertaken.—
Reuter.

NEW PROGRAMME

Washington, Feb. 18. "If the expansion of the British Navy is to continue, it will become necessary for us to adopt a new naval programme," Senator Walsh, chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, said to-day.

He advocates close observation of British naval policy, and those of other powers.—
Reuter.

PRINCE MICHAEL WELL AGAIN

Florence, Feb. 18. The Rumanian Heir Apparent, Crown Prince Michael, who suffered from acute appendicitis, has completely recovered and left here to-day.—

FREEMASONRY IN SCOTLAND

A letter from King George VI, Grand Master Mason of Scotland, written when he was Duke of York, was contained in a minute submitted to the Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge in Freemasons' Hall, Edinburgh. The letter conveyed congratulations to all members of Grand Lodge on the excellent manner in which their general arrangements were carried out for the recent bicentenary celebrations, and added:—"I feel sure that deputations and visiting brethren must have been greatly impressed not only with the dignity and simplicity of the installation ceremony but also with the friendly hospitality which they met on all sides."

Sir Iain Colquhoun, Acting Grand Master Mason, said that he had been asked by the Grand Master Mason to express to Grand Lodge his thanks for their friendly welcome when he came to Edinburgh and his deep and earnest congratulations on what he could only hope had been the magnificent success of the bicentenary celebrations.

TELEVISION

Television is now in practical and regular use in the United Kingdom. Though one or two other countries have fought hard for technical leadership, in no other country has there yet been built a station to transmit high definition pictures to the homes of the people. The new television service which was inaugurated in Alexandra Palace in London was thus the first of its kind in the world. At present there are two systems, the Baird and the Marconi E.M.I. Each will be used in alternate weeks by the British Broadcasting Corporation, which arranges the television programmes.

Good Results

When the service was first attempted it was expected that an effective service could not be made available at distance beyond 25 miles. Actually the test transmissions showed a reliable service of up to 40 miles. When more experience has been gained new stations will be built in provincial centres until the whole country is covered with a network which will give a national television service. At present the cost of receivers is high; but at prices ranging from £85 to £120, manufacturers were pressed far beyond their output capacity with orders for home receiving apparatus to be delivered in time for the opening ceremony. It is expected, however, that in the course of the next few years receiving apparatus will become much cheaper and simpler to operate. Coloured television is already a distinct possibility, and next year's Coronation ceremony will provide a great opportunity for showing in the first year of the new service what television can do to make a national event a reality in the homes of the people.

GOOD HEALTH

"My whole family has benefited so much by the use of Kalzana that I only wish more would give it a trial."

writes Mrs. U., London.

Mineral starvation is the cause of many troubles: children are often pale, irritable and handicapped by a slow development of bones and weak teeth; women suffer from irregular periods, pains and headaches; men are dizzy and tired after a hard day's work.

Kalzana—the mineral food for better health—supplies the necessary minerals to the cells of the muscles, blood, and nerves. By doing so, it strengthens the whole organism and increases its power of resistance in cases of illness and weakness. Good health is the best guarantee of happiness for the whole family.

RATHER FREE THAN SOBER

Statement Easily Misunderstood!

A celebrated bishop of early Victorian days drew upon himself a storm of obloquy by a remark at a public meeting on the "Prohibition" question, to the effect that he would rather see England free than England sober.

The other day a Minister of the Crown said that, in his opinion, legislation was not the most important factor in smoke abatement. Both statements, though liable to be misunderstood by the shallow thinker, contain the important truth that any improvement in a condition affecting the well-being of the public in general must, to be effective, derive from individual effort; in other words, a forward movement will be more pronounced if made with willing steps than if under the coercion of the legislative lash. The occasion of the comment last cited was at the opening of the Smoke Abatement Exhibition at the Science Museum, South Kensington, by the Minister of Health, the Rt. Hon. Sir Kingsley Wood M.P.

The exhibition, which is due to the efforts of the National Smoke Abatement Society, assisted by a technical advisory committee, including representatives of interested Government departments and industrial associations, is designed to show to the general public the deleterious effects of smoke in the atmosphere, for which smoke the domestic fire is responsible to an extent not sufficiently recognised. The display, with this object in view, could not be bettered: it is set out with that skilled technique we have learned to expect from those in charge of the Science Museum; but whether this missionary effort will make a wide enough appeal is problematic.

Three Divisions

The display, broadly speaking, falls into three divisions: the effects of smoke, the detection and measurement of those effects, and methods for combating them. The first division is very convincing: choked lungs, respiratory diseases, stunted and stony vegetation, corroded stone, work, metals and leather book bindings, obscured glass, interference with flying, and other uneconomic results are strikingly demonstrated. The second is interesting from the technical point of view, some ingenious instruments being shown. The third division, also of technical interest, covers, considering the space available, quite a lot of ground. Particularly interesting was a diagram model showing the atmospheric pollution of various sorts from different fuels burned under different conditions.

The sulphur-dioxide pollution from the Battersea power station is, for instance, 4.4 lb. per ton of fuel with the gas-washing apparatus in operation. This compares very favourably with the 60 lb. per ton produced from a good industrial boiler plant not so fitted, though it is still some way behind the 1 lb. per ton of gas firing.

Despite the cold, these three race enthusiasts seem to be thoroughly enjoying themselves at Kwantli on Sunday when the Chinese New Year Meeting was held.

'Plane Designed By Mr. Whitney Straight

Mr. Whitney Straight, who is engaged in important aerodrome developments, has had an aeroplane built to his requirements, states a correspondent in The "Daily Telegraph." The new model, which is already in production, was on view at Heston recently.

It made its debut in triplicate, for three machines arrived flying in formation during wet, stormy weather. They immediately demonstrated their slow-landing quality.

The Whitney Straight is a "side-by-side" cabin two-seater of low-wing monoplane type. It is based on the well-known Miles designs, and is built by Phillips and Powis, at Reading. The machine is definitely of the luxurious type, and no pains have been spared in its finish and fittings.

Its price, £295, is high compared with those of many two-seaters, but despite this fact it has quickly found markets. No fewer than 45 have already been sold, many to foreign purchasers.

REMARKABLE STABILITY

I have not flown in a more comfortable light aeroplane, nor one so well-finished in every respect. The control is exceptionally easy, and the craft is so beautifully balanced and trimmed that it "flies itself" almost as if fitted with an automatic pilot.

This stability is evident even when steeply banking on a turn. Indeed, Mr. Miles, by whose side I sat, having levelled out for landing, took hands and feet off the controls and let the machine land itself.

Sound-proofing in the very roomy cabin is so effective that conversation between pilot and companion is easy.

The machine, with its 130 H.P. Gipsy Major engine, has a maximum speed of 145 m.p.h., and cruises at 1,000 feet at 130 m.p.h. Its stalling speed is 38 m.p.h., so that it is very easy to land. The normal range is 570 miles.

THE THREEPENNY BIT IN SCOTLAND

There must be something in these Scotmen stories if money can be believed when it talks, for their land is a natural home of the threepenny bit, according to figures from the Mint.

But more significant is the fact that nobody comments on their prevalence north of the border, whereas, in Wales, which takes less than half the quantity that goes to Scotland, every other coin is a threepenny piece.

It is easily the most popular coin in Wales. Booking clerks at Welsh stations handle hundreds of them daily. In comparison, an English station may not see one a month.

Big Money Here

Of the 7,500,000 threepenny bits minted annually, five millions go to Scotland, two millions to Wales, and only half a million for distribution over the rest of England.

It has even been known for an entire Sunday School outing from a South Wales town to be paid for in three penny bits.

But when they go to Scotland, it appears, they stay there.

Business men's expresses from the Midlands and from Plymouth to London bring out the £10 and £5 notes. Plymouth also has a smattering of dollar bills. England's most popular coins are sixpences and shillings.

WEATHER PROOF PAPER HATS

With A Scottish Origin!

Paper hats that never knew the inside of a cracker or heard the New Year revels can be seen in London, states the "Morning Post." They can be worn in any weather and are adaptable to the latest fashion in colour or design. And they do not look like paper. But they are paper.

They had their origin in a Scottish paper mill. The inventor set himself to find a paper which would be as durable as cloth for binding purposes, and found he had produced a hat, or the makings of one.

For if paper can serve as binding cloth, why not as hat cloth? Therefore the inventor had it rained on, poured oil and petrol on it, battered it about a bit, and finding that it still looked nice, sent it to a fashion expert to be turned into a woman's hat, or hats.

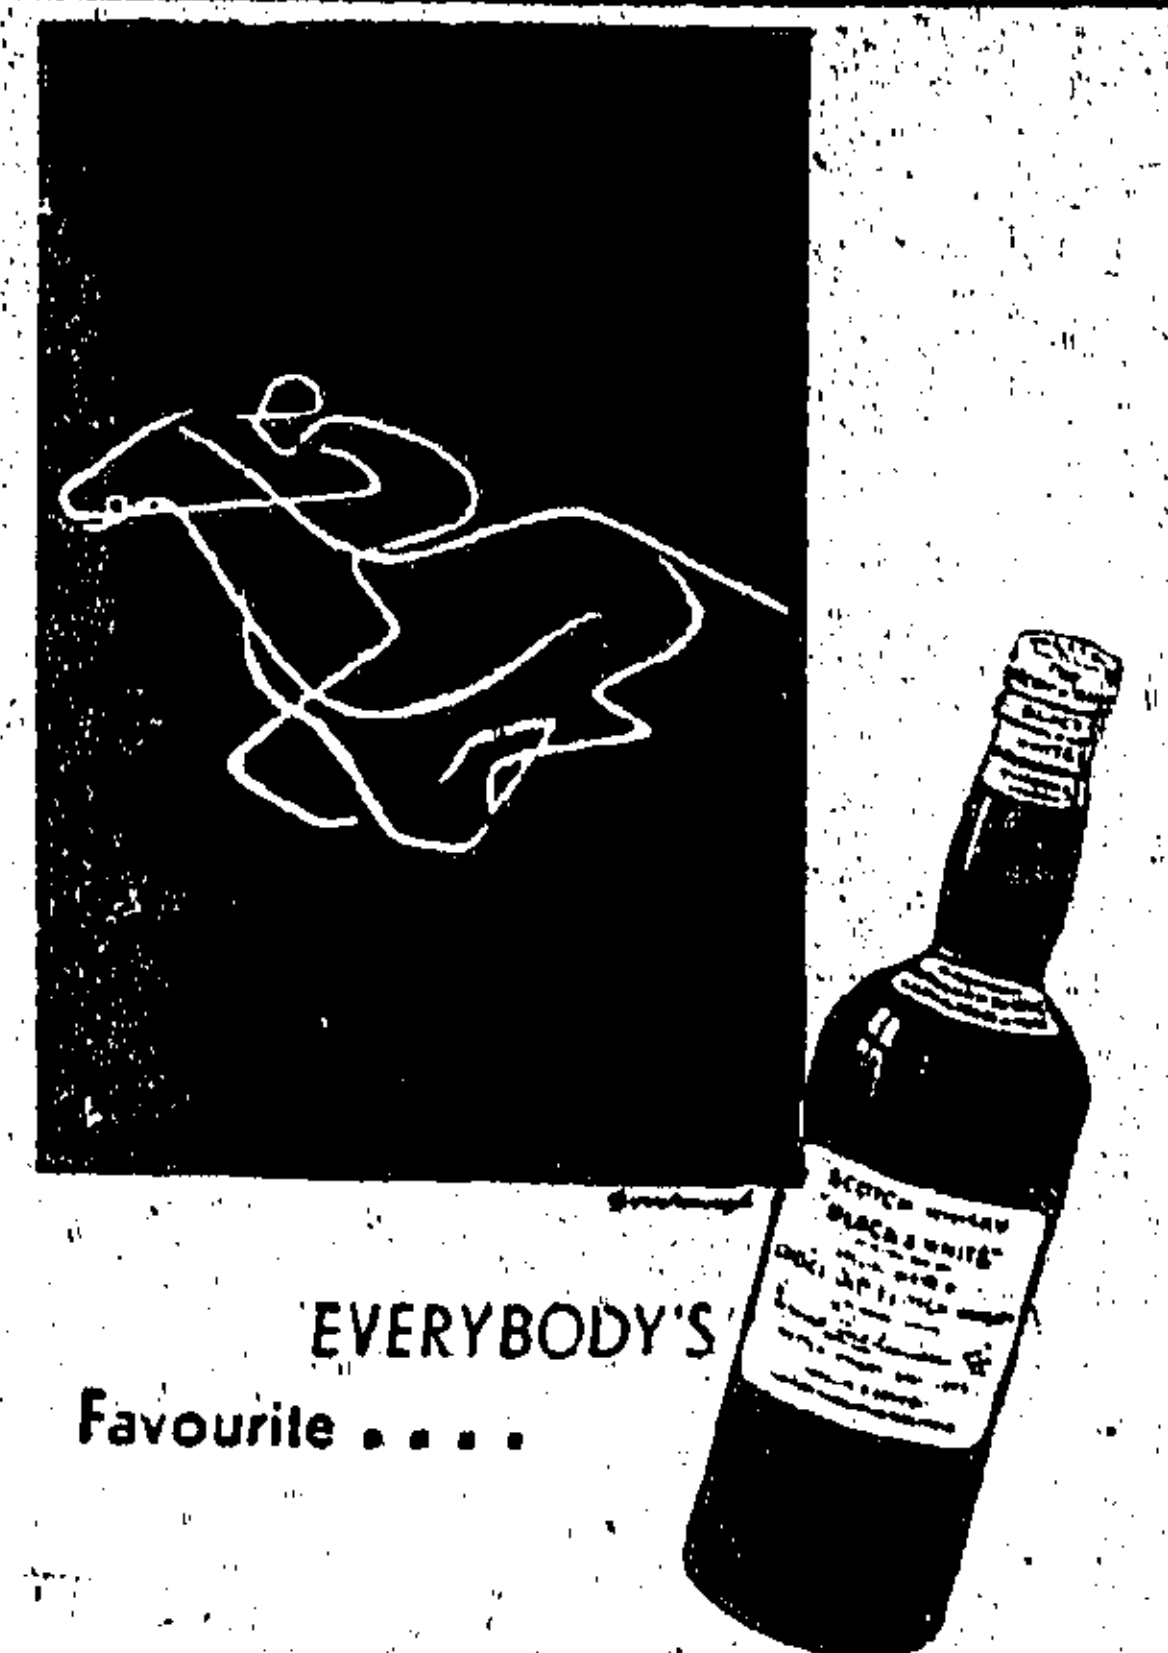

The fashion expert also turned it into belts, dress ornaments, cushion covers, handbags, curtains and even ladies' shoes.

The results are to be found in the display of Scottish paper-making, printing and publishing, under the auspices of the Commissioner for the Scottish distressed areas, which was opened by Major Ian Hay Beith ("Ian Hay") at British Industries House, Oxford-street.

TRAFFIC OFFENCES

For allowing an unlicensed driver to drive his car, and driving without lights along Chatham Road on January 21, Jefferson Der, of 188 Cheung Sha Wan Road was fined a total sum of $9 on the two charges while Ho Yee, the unlicensed driver, was fined $6.

E. Stephenson, of Cosmopolitan Dock House of Tai Kok Teui was summoned before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistrate's yesterday and was fined $4 for driving a private car along Nathan Road about 9.35 p.m. on January 13 without any lights.

QUEEN'S DISCOVERY IN ANTIQUE SHOP

History Of A Knife And Fork

Queen Mary has sent to the Lord Mayor (Sir George Broadbridge) a knife and fork which she recently discovered in an antique shop. She thought that they might have been part of a set already in the possession of the Lord Mayor, and expressed the desire to know their history. The knife is Victorian, bearing the date 1838, and the fork is William IV, dated 1837.

The Lord Mayor sent the pieces for inspection to Mr. J. L. Douthwaite, the Curator of the Guildhall Museum. Mr. Douthwaite has reported that the knife, handle of Coalport, and that both contain the Royal Crown over the City Arms, is most unusual.

Both seem to have been made for some Royal visit to the Mansion House or Guildhall. Queen Victoria dined in Guildhall in 1837 and went to a supper in 1840. The knife and fork appear to be a pair to which there should be a spoon. The maker was William Theobalds, who in 1837 amalgamated with Robert Metcalf Atkinson, spoon and fork makers. The fork bears the name of Theobalds only, but the knife has the amalgamated name.

H.M.S. DANAE DUE TO-DAY

H. M. S. Danae is due to arrive in port to-day from Australia to join up with the China Squadron. She came out from England some time ago but has since been to Melbourne to take part in the Centenary celebrations. The French gunboat, Argus, arrived in port yesterday and will be here for about a month.

Automatic Short-Thread Milling Machine

The production of threads on screwed parts which are short relatively to their diameter, can usually be accelerated by employing a machine designed for this class of work. Such a machine is the Relshauer automatic, short-thread milling machine. As its name implies, the machine is of foreign origin, the sole agency having been recently taken up by Messrs. Alfred Herbert, Limited, Coventry. Its maximum capacity is the threading of screwed parts up to 180 mm. (7.0625 in.) in diameter, and not exceeding 70 mm. (2.756 in.) long. The plain part of the work behind the threaded part is accommodated in the hollow spindle, the internal diameter of which is 35 mm. (1.385 in.). The chuck has a maximum opening of 85 mm., and as the tool is a milling cutter, both internal and external threads can be cut. The thread is completed when the work has made 1.1/8 revolutions, after which the slides return to the rest position and the chuck stops ready for unloading. The speeds and feeds are suitable for practically any material, such as steel, brass, aluminium, and ebonite.

As regards construction, the tool spindle is carried in a column integral with the main base casting, the latter carrying a compound slide forming the work head. The slide has a longitudinal traverse of 250 mm. (9.843 in.), and a cross-traverse appropriate to the diameter range of the work. The machine is automatic in action after the work has been set up in the chuck and the starting clutch actuated, the slide having been brought up to an adjustable stop and clamped by a handwheel. This determines the position of the work relative to the milling cutter, which, it will be appreciated, cuts the whole length of the thread at once. The cutting feed is derived from the movement of the cross-slide, the work being thus fed on to the milling cutter, which is, of course, rotating, as also is the work. The cutter spindle is driven by a 14-h.p. motor housed in the base. The drive is transmitted by belt on a two-step pulley. The spindle pulley serves also as a flywheel. The motor is of the pole-changing type with a reversing switch giving four speeds in either direction. The normal speed range is from 170 r.p.m. to 480 r.p.m., but with change cone pulleys it can be increased to run at from 880 r.p.m. to 1,900 r.p.m.

The work spindle is driven through gears by a 1-h.p. flange-mounted motor on the cross slide. The gears consist of a friction clutch, change gear and worm gears, the speed ratios being altered by change wheels. The range is from 0.3 r.p.m. to 4.5 r.p.m. The in-feed and return of the cross slide, and also the stopping of the feed drive, are effected by means of a cam. A second cam, situated on the first ones and readily accessible for changing, controls the pitch. The coarsest pitch that can be handled is 3 mm. (0.118 in.), or 8 threads per inch, and the maximum depth of thread is 2.3 mm. (0.091 in.). The cooling lubricant is supplied by the small gear pump near the chuck.

This is attached to the face of the cross slide, and is driven from the work spindle. The overhanging arm supporting the outer end of the cutter arbor shown in this view, is used, of course, for external threads only, and is removable for cutting internal threads.

Accuracy And Speed Of Latest Guns

Lord Stanley, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, speaking to the Manchester University Conservative Association, said the naval construction programme was going on very satisfactorily and was up to time, states the "Manchester Guardian." The Admiralty's task easier than that of the other two services because it had the organisation already in existence.

He imagined the lag of some months in aircraft deliveries to be due to the difficulty of creating new production and new designs at the same time. When these difficulties were overcome, he thought, the lag might quickly be made up. "I can assure you that there is no complacency," he added; "the Air Ministry is working very hard to overcome the difficulties."

There had, he said, been a change in the last year or two in the views held on armaments, and throughout the country one would find agreement that this country could not continue to be the only one insufficiently protected. He was sure that when the Estimates came before Parliament next month the attack on the Government by the Opposition would be made much more on the extent to which we were rearming and the way in which it was being done than on the fact that we had been compelled to strengthen our position.

REPLY TO THE BOMBER

The threat of air attack had produced new problems for the navy; it had added a great deal to the Admiralty's difficulties and expense, but it had not changed at all the responsibilities which the navy had to undertake. Eventually, history showed, defence always caught up with attack, and new weapons turned out not to be decisive.

Defence against the torpedo had meant heavy armour and bulges on the hull of the battleship; defence against the bomber meant heavy armour on the upper decks and the development of an increasing anti-aircraft armament. Within the last year or two revolutionary changes had been made in that direction, and there had been an immense improvement in both the accuracy and the speed of anti-aircraft gunnery. He did think the bomber had made the battleship obsolete.

"When the present rapid rebuilding of our fleet is over," he said, "we shall keep a shadow industry ready for a new emergency."

£80 A FOOT FOR A LEASE

£95,000 Oxford-St. Deal

The leasehold of £50, Oxford-street, a building which has a frontage of only 24ft, has just been sold for between £95,000 and £100,000. Redmaynes Ltd., the firm, are the purchasers, states the "Daily Telegraph."

The building covers a site area of 1,370 sq. ft., and, taking into account the value of the ground rent, the price paid comes out at £80 a foot. This is believed to be a record for the neighbourhood.

Properties in this part of Oxford-street so seldom come into the open market, however, that there is little available basis for precise comparison.

No. 250, Oxford-street, for many years occupied as a wine bar by Henry Finch Ltd., has been described as situated "in the heart of the women's shopping centre." It is a narrow-fronted building of basement, ground and five upper floors, and on both sides of it are the premises of John Lewis and Co. Ltd., a fact that helps to make it of great value.

The term of the lease is 999 years at £350 ground rent. At the auction held last year the bidding disclosed that £91,000 was below the reserve and the property remained unsold.

It is understood that the existing building is not to be demolished and rebuilt, but that it will be adapted by the construction of a suitable shop and showroom front.

THE BLUE STOCKINGS

University Play

A good evening's entertainment is in store for those who will attend the Great Hall of the University to-night when the annual dramatic evening of the Hong Kong University Arts Association will be featured with the presentation of Moliere's well-known play, "The Blue Stockings," translated and produced by Mr. Adrian H. Patterson, Lecturer in English. A special performance was given last evening for school children and was well attended.

All members of the cast gave good accounts of themselves last night although acting honours must be accorded to Cheung Wing Ngok, who, in the role of Chrysalus, an honest citizen of Paris, was excellent. Cheung Wing Ngok gives an almost flawless performance as the husband who is unable to give vent to assert his position in the household owing to the complete dominance of his wife, Philaminta, a role capably played by Lisette Pierre-Morant.

Rose Pau, as Belissa, Chrysalus's sister, acted with finesse and is admirably suited to the role. Josephine Wong, who will be remembered for her excellent portrayal as Lady Precious Stream, adds further to her laurels in the role of Henrietta, youngest daughter of Chrysalus. In love with Clitandre, a role adequately filled by Oey Jow Hong.

Helen Chu, is splendid as Henrietta's sister, Armande. Of the remainder of the cast, Josephine Choy is delightful as Martina, the cook. Trissatin is played by Shuen Po Yuen who provides much of the comedy that runs through the five acts of the play.

Li Shau Chung (as Vadius, a Greek scholar), Chau Sing To (as Thora, a footman), Wu Hei Tak (as Artistes), Lim Meng Liang (as Jilian, Vadius's footman) and Li Yin Kei (as the Notary) complete a splendid cast.

Comds. J. B. Newill, D.S.O., R.N. (retired) together with Mrs. Newill and some friends at the Kwant Race Course.

H.K. RIFLE ASSN.

Membership grew with a rapidity that was amazing. Whereas in June 1935 the list boasted 50 names, this number grew to 469 by December 31, 1936 and it is now over the 500 mark.

The first Annual Prize Meeting was held on the Army ranges from April 30 to May 4, 1936 and proved an unqualified success. The Spoon and Practice Shoots which are held regularly, are very popular and are always looked forward to by members.

In November 1935, permission was given by the Council for the publication of a magazine, the H.K.R.A. "Bulletin." The first number appeared at the end of that month, under the editorship and management of the Hon. Secretary, and it is worthy of record that the first ten numbers have resulted in a profit to the Association of $699.38, assuming that all outstanding advertising accounts are paid.

The Year Book was published in August 1936 and copies were distributed free to all members who were on the books of the Association on May 1, of that year. The first annual dinner held on December 16, 1936, was a distinct success. The outstanding achievement of the period under review was the opening of the Clubhouse on the Army Ranges at Kowloon City by Mrs. A. W. Bartholomew, wife of the G.O.C., on December 16 last.

RANGE FACILITIES

Up to the end of 1936 the matter of range accommodation at week-ends was the most difficult matter with which the Council was confronted as the Kowloon Golf Club has the use of both ranges on Saturday afternoons and Sundays for golf.

As the report was being compiled, a minute was received by the Council, addressed to the Government with copies to the Kowloon Golf Club and the Association, pointing out that the increasing use of the ranges by the garrison in the future would seriously interfere with the existing facilities for golf, and suggesting that the Golf Club be divorced from the ranges.

This of course changes the outlook for the Association as it wants what it has everywhere in the Empire, namely, unrestricted permission to use the military ranges at week-ends.

C. B. S. Students Give Open-Air Show

A brilliant display of physical drill and gymnastics was presented by boy and girl students of the Central British School in their spacious recreation ground yesterday afternoon. The demonstration was witnessed by a large gathering of parents and friends of the children.

Several novel drills were included in the programme, which embraced nearly all phases of school physical training. Besides being an excellent lesson of health-giving and muscle-developing exercises, the display also provided fair entertainment for the spectators, particularly at the keen and determined efforts of the younger children to perform the more difficult exercises.

The open-air demonstration included all sorts of physical drills, gymnastics and balancing feats, the latter being in a large extent the work of both the junior and senior girls. Physical drills were performed by both the boys and girls, and while the boys won the day with their gymnastics and vaulting, the girls were themselves no mean adepts at these forms of exercises.

The drill display was held under the able direction of Mrs. H. Prother and Mr. J. Walkden.
